War News.
Says Russophile: "O have you heard
The latest news about the war?
The gallant Turks have won again,
And slaughtered Russia by the score.
I see a smile light up your face;
I know you're glad to hear the news;
That's right—the thrashing of the Russ
Should match with every good man's views."

Says Russophile: "Good sir, I smile
That you should be so well informed;
I beg to state that by the Russ
The Turk has had his jacket warmed.
I saw the fact chalked up, just now,
So I am sure the news is true;
I'm really glad, and beg to add,
I'm just as good a man as you."

Says Russophile: "Well, I declare!
You surely do my temper try;
Take that—you Russian pig, and learn
To never give a Turk the lie!"
Hows Russophile: "You Modern view,
Take that, and that, and that, and that;
I'll show you, sir, that I can use
The logic of an ancestor!"

Says Russophile: "You've bruised my nose!"
Says Russophile: "You've bruised my eye!"
So come with me and be convinced—
The news is written up close by!"
Says Russophile: "I'll gladly go,
You will find that I am not a fool."
"I'll bet my life," says Russophile;
"That you will learn the Turks have run!"

Reads Russophile: "The latest from—"
Spells Russophile: "The sent of war—"
Spells Russophile: "Is that the date?"
Spells Russophile: "Which, just before—"
Reads Russophile: "This latest news,"
Spells Russophile: "We really thought—"
Spells Russophile: "San Francisco News Letter."

VARIETY.
Excited wife (to her husband): "Do you not admit that woman has a mission?" Cool husband: "Yes, my dear, she has—submission." Great confusion in the domestic circle and the husband calls on the family servant
for a plaster for his head, wounded by accidentally hitting it against the edge of an open door.

"As the slow, rising tide of the moon-light waters of Mobile Bay was yesterday morning beating her sandy shores, a man was fast abbing out his glorious career had been spent on that liquid plain which encircles the globe." That is the way the Mobile Register tells of the death of Admiral Semmes.

"This is one of the Virginia Footlight's yarns."
A Cuckoo, at Lake Umbagog, attended a communion, and on his return was telling of a good time he enjoyed. A serious-faced friend asked,
"Were there any converts?" He stopped a moment and said: "Well, I swear, I forgot to ask. But the laked been very busy, and the sailing and rowing was divine, and there were some of the handsomest girls there I ever saw."

Rev. David Sewing thinks it is the duty of the father of the family to set a card table in his sitting-room and to have a card game going on all the time. And then the boys could beat cards on the old man at circus times, and beat him out of enough to take the whole crowd into the tent and set up the red lemonade booth. It would be a grand improvement over the old plan of stealing lead pipe and carrying water for the elephant.

A curious grimace on the faces of the communicants at a suburban church on a recent Sabbath, during the passing of a cup, was explained by the services deified as she went out. "It was too bad. Henry made a mistake and got the vinegar just this morning! The same thing happened in an up-the-river church not many months ago. Deacons, as a class, seem to be giving too much attention to politics."
—Springfield Republican.

THANKSGIVING.—Thieves broke into the room of William Cullen Bryant last week, and in the love of garment got away with the poet's clothes, and if he could have held communion with the visible form of the poet, he would be would have spoken a varied language to them.
But they wrapped the drapery of his things around them and went off with the innumerable caravan that keeps itself shadowy in the daytime.—Burlington.

A little girl, sent out to hunt eggs, came back unsuccessfully, complaining that "lots of hens were standing doing nothing." That is exactly the difficulty. It is the general trouble all over the world that hens are "standing around doing nothing." On the eggs that are never laid and might be? So many hopes and plans and schemes of improvement! So many inventions! So many good works! Such reforms and movements! So much to be done, and yet so many "hens standing around doing nothing."

Too HARD.—This is the way the prohibitory law is enforced in Maine: The other day a lodger at the Johnson House in Gardner got up the morning of the thirty, and approaching the landlord, said he must not drink of cider.
He was assured he could not buy it in the city.
"Can get it by the gallon, can't I?" he said.
He was told he could. So he went up to a store and purchased a quart of cider for about five cents. He was told that he could not buy it in the city. He was told that he could not buy it
